#	TECHNICAL DESCRIPTION
1	• Installation of the same version of the software as the original system. This will be upgraded to the latest bug fix version (eg. Version 7.0 would be updated to 7.9 which is the latest of that release) • Copy correct hardware configuration settings for all probes of the system (resonance frequency, approximate P90, etc.) • Run the first system calibration. This assumes the user has the original calibration standards. This also assumes the system is correctly functioning. • NO support to debug hardware related issues • NO Software training provided • NO support beyond the installation and transfer of the software. Note: Software transfers are included in GIT support contracts. If a support contract is purchased the price of the software transfer fee is waived.
